More Opinions On How to Have Safe Highways

SAFETY MAIL: I have before me two letters and my water bill. I'll turn the letters over to you now and wish that I could do the same with my water bill.

I received a letter from Lee Wright, who voices his opinion as to slaughter on the highways and what to do about it.

And Orval L. Nelson brings up something important that hasn't been mentioned before—the danger brought about when the guy back of you tails your bumper.

MR. WRIGHT points out that he is a 72-year-old resident who has been driving an auto continuously for 33 years—since 1912. During that time he has owned and driven nine different makes of cars, has driven in nine different states in this U. S. A., has never been arrested for violating a traffic law and has no accident record. Then he says:

"In the first place they speak of the 65 mph speed limit. That is OK as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough. I do not believe a driver has the proper control over his car at 65 mph, but 65 is better than 90 to 100 mph.

"Here is my suggestion along with the 65 mph limit: When in traffic always keep your mind on your business so you can judge at all times what the fellow behind or in front of you is going to do. Drive at all times just like you would if the inspector was sitting beside you and you were taking a test for a driver's license. Use courtesy at all times, and above all, stay sober. Remember that half of the highway belongs to the other fellow."

And, says the 72-year-old Mr. Wright, "records show that there are 90 per cent more accidents caused by younger drivers than by men past 60 years old."

He gives us a P.S. which says: "I could mention that when a driver is caught driving while drunk, don't stop at a small fine. Give him the full penalty of the law."

ORVAL NELSON points out that 35 years ago Eldorado had traffic signs which said: "Drive slow, you may meet a fool."

"We have fools," writes Mr. Nelson, "who never want to move with traffic but must lead the pack or die trying. They never keep a safe distance between vehicles, but instead continue up so close they endanger those in the car ahead as well as themselves."

"This fool is the most dangerous," he continues. "He gets himself so close behind he cannot read signs or see cross streets ahead."

He then tells of careless attitudes, the bullies and those who do not have the ability to learn the rules of safety as factors in highway accidents. And he urges more revocations of driver's licenses when it is clear that a person is not doing a good job of driving on the road.

He says "we need plain clothes policemen in plain cars to ride the highways," then says:

"One set speed limit is not the answer to the crash problem. There are plenty of open roads where a driver who is sober can drive fast, if he will take precaution and slow down at the proper times. Of course, speed limits are needed in all congested or semi-congested areas. I am opposed to setting up a 65 mph statewide limit."

Two Runs by Fire Department

The fire department made two runs yesterday afternoon. Fire Chief L. G. Martin reported today. At 12:30 p. m. a grass fire was extinguished at 613 South Ledford street.

At 2:40 p. m. a run was made to Route 45 in East Harrisburg, where an emergency brake caught fire after a motorist had driven with the brake on.

Reports Made in Observance of Constitution Day

Group Assesses Current Status Of Civil Liberties

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of citizens told a congressional subcommittee today that rights guaranteed by the Constitution are being abused—in some cases by Congress itself and by executive agencies of the government.

The warning came in statements prepared for a Senate Judiciary subcommittee for an unusual observance of Constitution Day at the nation's Capitol. Billed as "a petition for redress of grievances," the session was a prelude to a study which the subcommittee will make of constitutional rights.

Under the dome of the old Supreme Court chamber—which has housed the Senate as well as the high court—a lawyer, teacher, woman, veteran, churchman, Negro, businessman, workingman, farmer, newsman and a representative of fraternal organizations gave their assessment of the current status of constitutional liberties.

In an unusual twist, senators on the subcommittee traded places with petitioners and occupied seats generally used by witnesses.

Highlights of some of the citizens' statements:

1. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., said the House Un-American Activities Committee frequently has infringed on individual rights.

He said the committee failed to afford "many a witness an opportunity or the means to protect himself and his reputation."

2. J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, warned of threats by the government to freedom of information.

He said congressional committees recently have held more than a third of their proceedings in secret and that courts and quasi-judicial agencies performing the functions of courts also have met behind closed doors. He said executive departments "have frequently withheld and concealed matters of vital public concern" and that transactions not at all touched with military security have been concealed in secrecy.

3. William F. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, said the rights of workers to organize, bargain collectively and strike if necessary have been threatened. He said the major threats stem from the Taft-Hartley Act and "restrictive legislation" passed by states to govern union activity.

4. Donald R. Wilson, past national commander of the American Legion, said constitutional liberties are endangered by Communists and fellow travelers, the very people who most often demand the Constitution's protection. He said the committee should determine how to protect Americans "against those who would defy the Congress, deceive the courts, destroy the government and enslave the people while prohibiting their being unmasked and revealed in their true identity."

5. John Lester Buford, president of the National Education Association, warned of a "climate of fear" in the schools. He said academic freedom has been impaired by pressures brought upon teachers by local pressure groups and by "censorship of textbooks and teaching materials."

6. Boyd Campbell, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and John C. Lynn, legislative director for the American Farm Bureau Federation, cautioned that the tendency of Congress to usurp legislative fields reserved for the states threatens the constitutional blueprint.

7. The total now missing is $302,880. Eight of the $20 bills were located at Jacksonville, Fla., according to J. Earl Milnes, agent in charge of the FBI office here.

All the bills were recovered in Federal Reserve banks in the two cities on Thursday, Milnes said.

Nine More Ransom Bills Recovered

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The FBI today announced the finding of nine more of the missing Greenleaf ransom bills, bringing to 42 the total recovered since Aug. 3.

The order stems in part, at least, from concern over a flurry of heart attacks which recently have immobilized some of the Air Force's high command.

Biggers to Head Annual Salvation Army Fund Drive

John W. Biggers

John W. Biggers, young Harrisburg attorney, will head the Salvation Army's annual drive for funds.

The drive will be held early in October.

A meeting to plan for the drive was held at noon yesterday at Schnierle's cafe, with Biggers conferring with the new Salvation Army post officers, Lt. and Mrs. Andrew Sands, who came here recently from Cairo, and members of the Salvation Army Citizens' Advisory board.

Another meeting of the group has been set for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Salvation Army church on West Locust street.

Lt. and Mrs. Sands replace Lt. and Mrs. John Kimmons, who were transferred to Granite City.

Southern Illinois Mines Benefit in State Purchases

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Southern Illinois mines benefited from state coal contracts which were awarded here this week. The contracts were awarded by State Purchasing Agent Vernon Forgue, Springfield, on bids submitted by upwards of 100 coal mining companies. They call for delivery of 355,190 tons to state institutions for an average price of $5.07 a ton.

The price actually was $4.82 but because of a recent increase in miners' wages and the inclusion of an escalator clause in the contract in case of such wage increases, the coal companies are authorized to increase the tonnage price 25 cents and they have elected to do so. One hundred and five companies received contracts.

Perry county mines will supply 41,000 tons of the coal under the contracts. Next is Franklin with 32,075 tons, and then Macoupin with 25,150 tons. Totals for other southern Illinois counties included: Madison, 13,000 tons; Montgomery, 14,600; Saline, 20,935; St. Clair, 20,665; Christian, 9,115; Washington, 5,000; Williamson, 25,830; and Randolph, 22,000.

Following is the breakdown of contracts to Saline county mines with the 1954 tonnage in parentheses:

Sahara Six 11,670 (11,000); Delta 3,500 (none); Blue Bird 2,060 (360); and Will Scarlett 3,725 (none). Carmac (in Williamson county) 3,150 (2,000).

Mines worked by the United Mine Workers of America had orders totaling 275,670 tons and employing 10,444 men. Those worked by the Progressive Mine Workers of America had orders of 71,380 tons and employing 2,448 men. Non-union miners will dig approximately 8,140 tons with 111 men employed. The coal bought this year is 37,000 tons over a year ago.

Order Chairbound Air Force Generals To Stretch Muscles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has ordered its chairbound generals to get away from their desks at least half a day every week to stretch their muscles and relax.

The order stems in part, at least, from concern over a flurry of heart attacks which recently have immobilized some of the Air Force's high command.

Nixon Defends Administration Farm Program

Outlines Five Point Plan at Plowing Contest

WABASH, Ind. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon today defended the administration's farm program as "basically sound," and promised further government efforts to bolster sagging farm income.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the National Plowing Contest here, he outlined a long range five-point administration farm program.

It called for:

1. A continuation of the flexible price support system.

2. "A bold imaginative program" to develop new domestic and foreign markets.

3. Increased research to reduce farm costs and increased use of agricultural products.

4. Continuation of soil conservation and similar programs.

5. A program of rural development to aid marginal farmers.

The vice president expressed confidence that such a program "will work," but he promised that the administration also will "explore every possible program" to stop the drop in farm prices and give farmers a larger share of the national income.

"I can assure the farmers of America that this administration will never stand idly by when disaster threatens our farmers or any other segment of American society," Nixon said.

Nixon conceded that farmers have been caught in a cost-price squeeze, but he said that "there is no farm depression" and the nation's agricultural economy is "basically sound."

The Republican high command called on Nixon, its ace trouble shooter, to defend the administration's farm policy against mounting drum fire attacks by Democrats.

Nixon vigorously defended President Eisenhower against Democratic charges that the chief executive has reneged on 1952 campaign promises to maintain price supports at 90 or 100 per cent of parity.

Mr. Eisenhower "has never been known to break a solemnly given promise during his 40 years of distinguished service to his country," Nixon said.

"And the farmers of America can be sure that he is not going to begin by breaking his word to them."

Demand Benson Resignation at Iowa Meetings

DES MOINES (AP)—Non-partisan protest meetings were snowballing across Iowa today to demand that Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson resign.

Four meetings of Iowa farmers have been held, and three more were scheduled in the state for the next two weeks.

Both Republicans and Democrats attended a meeting at Corning, Iowa, Thursday where more than 400 farmers from five counties applauded demands that Benson resign.

Jay Loghry, a feed salesman, and Duane Orton, a farmer, sponsored the Corning meeting and said they hoped that the protest movement would spread to all parts of Iowa and then across the nation.

Loghry said he was a registered Democrat but was not active in party politics. He said that "every effort" would be made to keep the meetings non-partisan.

Both Loghry and Orton called for Benson's resignation. And Loghry suggested that "everyone here write a letter to Benson and ask him to resign."

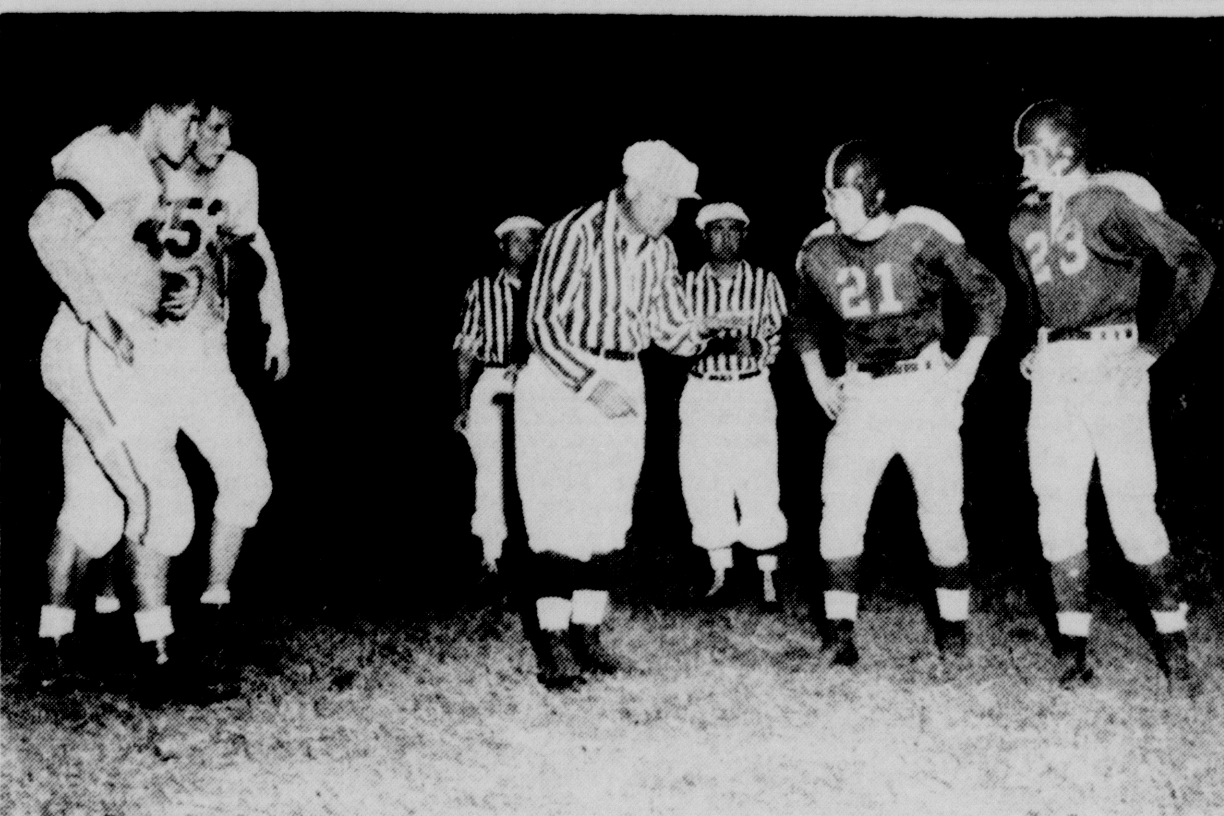

Albert J. Loveland, former Democratic undersecretary of agriculture, said the meetings were a forerunner of a Democratic election victory in 1956.

Loveland, a member of a Democratic farm advisory committee that will meet in Chicago Monday, said at his Janesville, Iowa, home that "these meetings are evidence that the Republicans have failed once again to solve farm income problems." He believes, he said, that the farmers will "help put a Democratic administration back in office."

OIL REPORT:

Two Producers Reported During Week; Raleigh Test Again Hot Spot

Taken from the Robertson Tri-State Oil Report

Saline county hot spot in the tri-state area again is listed as Ted Lindsay's Sammy Joe Turner No. 1, two miles away from other production, in the SW SE NE, 4-8-6e (Raleigh township) and eight miles north of Harrisburg.

This well flowed four and a half barrels of oil an hour after load recovery when fractured, from the Upper Cypress at 2659-66.

Lindsay, Carter and Texas hold most of the leases in the immediate area.

There were six completions listed for the period ending Sept. 13 with two producers, three dry holes and one test abandoned temporarily.

Nixon vigorously defended President Eisenhower against Democratic charges that the chief executive has reneged on 1952 campaign promises to maintain price supports at 90 or 100 per cent of parity.

Mr. Eisenhower "has never been known to break a solemnly given promise during his 40 years of distinguished service to his country," Nixon said.

"And the farmers of America can be sure that he is not going to begin by breaking his word to them."

Mayor Proclaims Observance of Constitution Week

Mayor Claud Gibbons, pointing out that today, Sept. 17, is the 168th anniversary of the signing of the U. S. Constitution, today proclaimed Sept. 17-23 as Constitution Week in Harrisburg.

Michael Hillegas chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is promoting the observance of Constitution Week in Harrisburg.

Mayor Gibbons in his proclamation requested that business places, schools and residences display the American flag "so that we may be more conscious of the Constitution and the freedom set forth in its Bill of Rights so that it may continue to protect us and our posterity in One Nation under God."

Announces Fall Of 2 Rebel Bases

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The government announced the fall of two rebel strongholds today and claimed a loyal army was closing in on Cordoba, where rebel leader Gen. Felix Videla Balaguer has pronounced himself head of a revolutionary government.

Violence hit Buenos Aires itself today for the first time when a heavy explosion, apparently from a bomb dropped by a lone rebel plane, rocked the port area.

The revolt of army and navy units against the government of President Juan D. Peron broke out Friday.

A government communique issued late this morning said two loyal armies were advancing on the big inland city of Cordoba and against the port of Bahia Blanca, another rebel stronghold.

United Press correspondent Julio Banzas reported in a dispatch from behind the rebel lines at Cordoba that a battle for the city was under way. It was preceded by heavy cannon and machine gun fire.

He said that as of 9:10 a. m. loyal troops converging on the rebel headquarters had not yet reached the city proper. The rebel commander called on civilians to help defend Cordoba against Peronista forces.

Other loyal army units were reported mounting an attack at the insurgent-held Atlantic naval base of Puerto Belgrano.

The government earlier had announced the surrender of the rebel-held naval base of Rio Santiago, 45 miles south of Buenos Aires and the small army base of Corruzo Cuatia, more than 500 miles to the northeast.

Conservative estimates placed casualties of the one-day-old revolt at about 300 killed and 1,000 wounded in land fighting and in air-naval actions in the River Plate.

His salary continued while he was in China and his earnings were reported to total $100,000.

A circuit court jury yesterday awarded Jerry L. Johnson of Eldorado a judgment of $1,000 and costs from Richard Gates in a lawsuit heard by the jury and Judge C. Ross Reynolds.

The case arose from a motor vehicle collision. Atty. Trafton Dennis and Atty. Harry L. McCabe represented the plaintiff, Atty. DeWitt Twente the defendant.

The jury will resume at 9 a. m. Tuesday with the lawsuit, John E. Chavis vs. Arthur Duncan, scheduled to go to trial before a jury.

Was Flier for Chennault's Civil Airline

Italian Bishop Also Released By Communists

HONG KONG (AP)—Lawrence Robert Buol, a civilian pilot jailed by Red China five years ago, strode across the border into Hong Kong today and a joyous reunion with his wife, Sue, who had worked untiringly for his release.

"Gee, he looks just wonderful," she cried.

"This is the happiest day of my life," the 34-year-old former Marine and Flying Tiger said.

Buol had spent the last two years of his imprisonment in solitary confinement and had lost 30 pounds. But he gave a broad grin when he crossed the border and shook hands with his welcomers. He was chewing gum from an American Red Cross package.

Buol, Stockton, Calif., pilot for Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's Civil Air Transport, was the third of a group of American civilians now being freed by Communist China under an agreement worked out in Geneva talks with the United States.

Buol disclosed he underwent intense mental torture at hands of the Communists—constant interrogation, "reeducation" and threats. Finally, he said, he confessed to "intruding into China on board an aircraft to conduct military espionage."

He did so, he said, because the Reds impressed upon him that a dictated confession was his only way to freedom. His voice quavered and broke as he said this and he appeared embarrassed.

Asked if he was "indoctrinated," Buol said with a smile, "Of course."

The Chinese Communists also released Italian Bishop Alfonso Perroni today. The bishop, looking more like a skeleton than a human being, had to be carried across the border by a police inspector and a Catholic priest. He is 63 but looked 90 as result of the harsh treatment.

The bishop said he had traveled with "six or seven Americans" when he boarded a train at Hankow for the border but had not seen them since. Several were believed still in Canton.

Two released Friday were the Very Rev. Harold W. Rigney, a Roman Catholic priest, and Walter A. Rickett, a Fulbright scholar. Both said they were guilty of "spying," the charges on which they were jailed by the Reds. Rickett was full of praise for the Peiping regime.

Father Rigney disclosed today his trial had lasted for three years and two months before he was finally given a 10-year sentence. He was grilled several times daily throughout the trial until he finally confessed to get it over with.

Buol was chief of operations for Chennault's CAT line when he was captured Jan. 15, 1950 in Mengtze, Yunan Province, in southwest China. The airline then was flying in supplies to guerrillas in the closing days of the Chinese Civil War. Communists took over the field while Buol was there.

His salary continued while he was in China and his earnings were reported to total $100,000.

Farm Price Issue

Editorial By Bruce Blossat

Though it is customary for politicians to announce what the issues will be in an election campaign, saying it doesn't make it so. No one who is wholly candid with the public will pretend he can forecast with finality what matters will deeply concern the voters more than 12 months hence.

The most that can honestly be said this far ahead is that one party or the other has certain problems which may develop into decisive issues in 1956. For the Republicans, one of these is the general slide in farm prices and the consequent drop in crop-and-livestock income.

Such income has been declining for several years, indeed, long before the GOP took the White House in 1952. But since the farmers cannot now realize the Democrats, the Republicans naturally fear they may be held accountable at the polls.

The figures on agricultural income are not in the realm of dispute. From time to time they have leveled off or turned slightly upward. But always they have resumed their descent.

It would be absurd to underestimate the political peril in this situation for any party in power. Evidence from the 1954 elections indicates that farm distress must certainly be translated into Democratic congressional victories in some areas. The impact, however, was not general.

But there are aspects of the farm situation which, at least temporarily, make it appear a good deal brighter than a superficial look at the generalized crop income figures would suggest.

For one thing, while net farm income from crops and stock has tumbled 50 per cent since 1947, farm population has fallen 19 per cent in the same period. This migration to the cities has softened the shock of the income decline for those who have stayed behind.

Second, many still on farms have found other sources of income to boost their annual earnings. In combination with the population factor, this development has caused total income of farmers on a per person basis to rise from $788 in 1947 to $918 in 1954.

Farmers have made the extra money by working in local factories, mines and shops, mostly in the off season, of course. The prospect is that their per capita earnings will hold up or even climb a bit in 1955.

Nevertheless, these additional elements seem to have been overlooked by politicians of both parties. And they do make the picture considerably less grim than some of the orators have conceded. They might even determine whether or not the farm question really will be an important 1956 issue with the voters.

Annual All-School Party Held by Carrier Mills High

The fourth annual all school party of the Carrier Mills Community High School was held Friday evening on the high school athletic field. The annual affair is sponsored by the MCIS student council. Athel Tanner is adviser to the student council this year.

The party got underway at 6 p. m. with the playing of softball and other outdoor games. Following the play period the faculty and students gathered around bon fires for wieners and marshmallow roasts.

After refreshments the group went to the school gymnasium for volleyball, table tennis and other entertainment.

A small lump of sugar, a half teaspoonful of baking soda, a little salt or a few pieces of white soap added to the water helps to keep cut flowers fresh.

Hit by Lightning, Felt Nothing
NORTON, Kan. — When lightning strikes, "you don't feel a thing," says a man who should know.

Emanuel Schwab, farmer who was hit by lightning while on his tractor, said the pain only comes later "when your muscles begin to loosen up."

Schwab was listing corn and he just raised the lister when "it happened."

"I suddenly was paralyzed," he recalled on a hospital bed. "I couldn't move my arms, legs or head. I knew I must stop the tractor and I finally could do that."

"Gradually I was able to drive home, but I had to be lifted from the tractor seat."

He was treated for shock and for burns on his neck and left leg.

Girls receiving awards were Mary Waddell, lady in waiting; Carolyn Hayes, who was crowned queen;

Janice Norman, Shirley Frohock and Dorothy Waddell were queens receiving scepters.

The Pankeyville church is proud of the queens as it is unusual for a church to have so many queens and queens with a scepter. Pankeyville church also has in its membership two young ladies who two years ago took the higher step of queen regent and received the cape. These young ladies are Yvonne Lane and Donna Moyer Moore.

Cut Off "Evil"
The ancient Romans started the custom of docking a dog's tail. They believed that all the evil of the animal was located in his tail and if they cut it off, the dog wouldn't bite or cause trouble.

Yankees Take 2-Point Lead In Flag Race

Detroit Blanks Indians, 3-0; N. Y. Trips Red Sox, 5-4

The hard-to-keep-down Yankees bobbed up in first place again today, but don't go too far away because Ol' Casey Stengel is pretty sure that two percentage points won't settle the American league's palpitating pennant race.

Stengel's stalwarts took over the lead on a percentage basis—61 to 612—when they beat the Red Sox, 5-4, in a hair-raising finish Friday night while the Indians fell to second place by dropping a 3-0 decision to the Tigers.

Yogi Berra is known up and down the league as a bad ball hitter but he never hit two better ones for the Yankees cause than he did against Boston. Berra picked a ninth inning pitch off the game to return the Bronx Bombers to first place for the first time since Aug. 29.

Berra also homered in the fifth inning and just before he connected for his game-winning wallop, Hank Bauer slammed a home run to tie the score at 4-4.

Former Teammate Hurts Indians Until Bauer and Berra rapped their homers to reward relief pitcher Jim Konstanty with his seventh victory of the year, Cleveland looked like it would hold on to first place despite the loss to Detroit.

What hurt the Indians most was that the defeat was inflicted by former teammate Steve Gromek, who checked the Tribe on three hits after relieving starter Billy Hoelt in the fourth inning.

The Tigers were stopped by Earl Wynn until the seventh inning when an error by Bobby Avila set up a bases-loaded situation.

Earl Torgeson, a National League discolor, then came through with a two-run single and the Tigers added another run in the eighth on Ray Boone's double and Bill Tuttle's single.

The Indians, now one game down to the Yankees in the vital "lost column," have seven games remaining while the New Yorkers have nine.

Three-run homers by Hector Lopez and Joe Astroth paced the Athletics to a 13-7 win over the White Sox.

Orlones Gain on Senators The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Washington Senators twice, 5-4 and 8-7 in their effort to climb out of last place. Little Art Schalllock was credited with the opening game victory while rookie Bob Hale singled home the winning run of the nightcap. The two triumphs moved the Orioles within two games of the seventh-place Senators.

Robin Roberts, the Phillies' candidate for the "most valuable player" award, registered his 23rd victory by defeating the Pirates, 8-1. Dick Groat's second inning homer was the only run allowed by Roberts, who also won 23 games in 1953 and 1954. Willie Jones homered for the Phils as Max Surkont absorbed the setback.

The Dodgers snapped a five-game losing streak by beating the Giants, 4-3, when George Shuba's single in the seventh inning drove in Gil Hodges with the winning run. Reliever Don Bessent notched his seventh victory without a loss.

In the only other game scheduled, the Braves defeated the Cardinals, 9-4, with the aid of home runs by Ed Mathews and Chuck Tanner.

This Week at DIXON SPRINGS

University of Illinois Experiment Station

(A round-up of the week's work, activities, and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by the Station staff.)

Beautiful Lake Glendale

Lake Glendale, a restful, refreshing little lake nestles in a valley of dense short-leaved pines near the Dixon Springs Experiment Station. It affords public swimming, fishing and picnic facilities. And it also gives us a lot of information.

Don Hanson of the Illinois Natural History Survey has been studying the habits, food and growth of fish in the lake. Now personnel of the State Water Survey, assisted by Station foresters, are making a detailed topographic and siltation survey. The information will enable researchers to figure how much water the lake holds above and below spillway level. The mapping job is part of a project to figure water yields from the lake's 1,500-acre watershed.

Randy Boggess, Station forester, says that information from this study, one of few in the country, should help cities, industry and people with water shortages.

Correction
Southern Illinois cattle are increasing faster than any of us suspected. Perhaps this is a year for twins. Anyway, one ranch in this area reports a 110 percent calf crop. Last week we said that 1,200 feeder cattle would be sold at the station on October 6. But a recount reveals that over 2,000 head will be sold. So the sale has been changed from one to two days. Mark down the dates of October 6 and 7.

Pasture Seeding Following Corn

A new seeding of alfalfa and bromegrass is now being made on the Morse tract at the Station. Since this tract is more fertile and on better soil than much of the Station land, alfalfa and brome were selected. On areas that have been ill treated, heavily cropped and badly eroded, soils must be built up before we can expect success with alfalfa and brome.

The Morse tract was in corn, which was removed for silage this summer. Soil tests told us the land needed phosphate, so we spread 1,000 pounds of rock phosphate per acre. The corn stubble was disked.

Now we're drilling winter oats at the rate of two bushels an acre. Two hundred pounds of 4-16-16 per acre was drilled with the oats as a starter fertilizer. We seeded 15 pounds of alfalfa and 6 pounds of bromegrass with a roller seeder. This rolling should produce more oats as well as better hay and pasture.

Climax Lespedeza

Lespedeza has been a wonderful crop for hay and pasture in southern Illinois. In fact, lespedeza is usually seeded with the general pasture mixtures at the Station. When we speak of lespedeza, we usually think of "Korean." But George McKibben, our crops and soils man who has been testing several lespedeza varieties, says it appears that a variety known as Climax has an edge in yield over several others, including Korean.

Climax also appears to reseed as well as the others, or better. It is a little earlier maturing than Korean, and that might account for its higher yields in dry years as well as its better reseeding habit.

Lower Corn Prices Improve Cattle Feeding

Bright spot in the beef cattle picture is the price of corn, which will average well under prices during the 1954-55 feeding season.

Illinois Farm Bureau Farm Management records show that a 25-cent fall in the price of corn is equal to a $1.00 to $1.25 increase in the price of fat cattle, depending on how big the cattle are when bought and on how much corn they eat.

M. B. Kirtley, University of Illinois farm economist, reports that feeder cattle are costing about the same as last fall, and that fat cattle a year from now are expected to bring about the same amount or slightly less than they are bringing this fall.

Feeder cattle prices started off higher this year than last, but they have fallen to about the same level as a year ago. Normally, feeder prices would fall further, but because of heavy seed supplies Kirtley says the chances are that they won't fall as much as normally.

Lower corn prices make the most difference in long-fed steer calves. According to FBFM records, a 400-pound calf will eat an average of 48 bushels of corn and gain an average of 520 pounds. At 25 cents a bushel that amounts to a saving of $12, or almost $1.30 per 100 pounds when spread over 920 pounds of selling weight.

Good and choice 650-pound steers to go on long feed make the next best saving. One of these steers will eat 54 bushels of corn to produce 450 pounds of gain. Savings of 25 cents a bushel on corn amount to almost $1.25 per 100 pounds of selling weight.

Short-fed 450-pound yearling steers to be fed for only seven months will eat 44 bushels each to gain about 350 pounds. Corn at 25 cents less a bushel will result in savings of about $1.10 per 100 pounds of selling weight.

Heavy 850-pound steers, fed for six months, will eat 47 bushels of corn in gaining 300 pounds, saving about one dollar per 100 pounds of selling weight.

Nitrogen Does Little Good for Soil When Applied by Itself

Nitrogen does little good when a soil is short of phosphate and potash, says O. T. Coleman, University of Missouri extension soils specialist.

Coleman points out that plant nutrients in fertilizer are members of a four-horse team that work together to build crop yields. Each element has its job to do. Each one backs up the efforts of the others. No single nitrogen, phosphate, potash, or lime nutrient can do the whole crop-feeding job by itself.

A soil test is one of the best guides in finding out what a soil needs. This, with the past history of the field, will tell what nutrients are needed for a particular field and how they should be applied to provide a balanced fertilizer ration for top yields.

SIU to Hold Off-Campus Courses in Agriculture

First of the 1955-56 Southern Illinois university six-weeks' off-campus short courses in agriculture will open Sept. 19 in high schools at Columbia, Waterloo, and Christopher, according to Harvey S. Woods, supervisor of adult education in agriculture.

Others scheduled to date will meet in Dahlgren, Carbondale, Aviston, Marissa, West Frankfort, Steelville, Anna, Ridgway, and Sesser.

The courses are offered jointly through the cooperation of the SIU School of Agriculture, the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education, and the vocational agriculture departments of the high schools where classes are scheduled. Interested farmers may register without fee. No college credit is offered for the courses. SIU School of Agriculture faculty members teach the classes which are geared to the practical interests of farmers in the area.

Woods says additional classes will be scheduled for late winter months as staff members are available to teach them. The SIU adult program in agriculture was started for area farmers in 1949 to bring them information on new trends in farming. Several hundred farmers enroll in the classes each winter during the slack season in farm work. Six weekly evening meetings about two and one-half hours in length comprise a course.

Classes already scheduled are: Sept. 19—Columbia, tractor maintenance; Waterloo, beef production; and Christopher, farm management.

Sept. 22—Dahlgren, dairy production.

Nov. 7—Carbondale (Community High School), farm shop; Columbia, poultry production; Waterloo, farm policy and marketing; Aviston, crops; Marissa, dairy production; and West Frankfort, general livestock.

Dec. 5—Steelville, swine production.

Jan. 2—Anna, vegetable production.

Feb. 13—Ridgway, swine production; Aviston, poultry production; Columbia, farm management; Waterloo, dairy production; Steelville, farm shop; Christopher, crops; and Sesser, farm policy and marketing.

How about a cover crop on that garden this winter? A surprising number of gardeners let garden plots lie bare all winter, either raked clean of crop residue or covered with what is left of summer vegetable crops and weeds. Some persons like to plow or spade the garden in the fall and leave the soil at the mercy of the elements and erosion through the winter months in order to get a few vegetables in the ground early the next spring.

To get the garden clean of crop residue and dried weeds is commendable because these harbor insects and diseases through the winter. Such material may be put into a compost pile where it will decompose and may be added to the garden next year to increase the supply of organic matter.

To leave the garden plot bare through the winter isn't commendable, especially if there is any slope. Every time rains fall some of the best top soil will be washed away. In addition, plant nutrients will be leached away or deeper into the soil where they will be unavailable to many of the shallow rooted vegetables.

A good portion of this leaching of nutrients and soil erosion may be stopped by using green manure cover crops in the garden during the fall and winter months. The benefits are many. Not only do they prevent erosion and improve the appearance of the garden in the winter, but the roots help loosen a tight soil, protect nutrients that are in the upper soil, and bring up nutrients from lower soil areas so that they will be available for shallower rooted vegetables the next season.

Turning down the green crop in the spring in preparing the garden for vegetable crops adds greatly to the soil's organic supply. Adding a little nitrogen at the time of turning under will speed up the decomposition, especially if the growth is fairly luxuriant.

Winter rye or winter oats do well

CORN AND DRY EARTH—Despite drought Glen Hardy harvested big ears of corn which are the envy of his neighbors in Grant City, Mo. Though he's had only one-half inch of moisture since July 1—and that crack in the ground is proof—Hardy is expecting a yield of 50 bushels per acre. He strengthened his hardy variety of corn with anhydrous ammonia and 12-12-12 fertilizer.

BLACK FACED BEAUTY—Young Dolores Louise Dodd, of Easton, Kans., looks with pride at her 5-month-old Shropshire ewe lamb which she entered in the Leavenworth County fair. With Dolores is 4-H Club agent John Schesser.

Farm Household Worker Has Different Status Under Social Security

Domestic workers in a farm household have a different status under the Social Security law from those who work in non-farm households, according to E. Bishop Hill, district manager of the Social Security Administration at Harrisburg.

If the farm is one which is operated for profit, they are considered farm workers, Mr. Hill stated.

To be covered by the law and be subject to the OASI tax, they must meet the coverage test fixed for agricultural workers rather than that for other household workers.

As cover crops in southern Illinois where the winter temperatures seldom are so severe as to destroy the crop. Legumes are good in adding nitrogen to the soil but generally do not work so well for the garden because the forage production is not so fast as that of rye—the recommended crop for garden cover. If the gardener has trouble with rye continuing to grow after it is turned under in the spring, he may find winter oats more desirable.

Rye may be seeded at the rate of two to three pounds per 1,000 square feet of surface. The seed may be broadcast on the surface and raked in with a hand rake or garden cultivator.

The gardener may seed portions of his garden after the last crop is harvested and it is too late to plant additional vegetables. At about the time of the first killing frost the rye may be seeded between the rows of late vegetables.

Sudan Grass Only Good for Pasture In Emergencies

DIXON SPRINGS—Sudan grass is strictly a dry-weather emergency pasture that won't produce high cattle gains, says G. F. Cmarik, researcher at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station of the University of Illinois.

In a 15-day experiment at the station, 40 heifers averaging 612 pounds pastured a 10-acre field of Common Sudan until only bare stems were left. They gained 500 pounds total—about .8 a pound a day for each heifer.

The Sudan was about 42 inches high and contained about 5,700 pounds of dry matter an acre when the heifers started in on it. It took 83 pounds of dry matter to get one pound of gain on each heifer.

But usually only 20 to 40 pounds of dry matter is needed for a pound of gain with other pastures, Cmarik points out.

He says that Sudan could be more profitably used for silage than for pasture this year since other kinds of pasture are plentiful. Sudan is a short-lived pasture crop, he adds, and has to be harvested at the right time to avoid prussic acid poisoning.

The Sudan was seeded June 29. About 110 pounds of 4-16-16 fertilizer per acre was used and Sudan was seeded at the rate of 25 pounds an acre.

Another experiment at the station is trying to find the strain of Sudan that livestock like best.

Herman, the Talking Pig, will be one of the featured exhibits at the University of Illinois "Carnival of Knowledge" at the Prairie Farmer-WLS Farm Progress Day on September 29 and 30.

Pigs weighing from 190 to 220 pounds are most likely to make number-one slaughter hogs.

"Everything I am I owe to ARCADIAN 12-12-12"

It takes plenty of big, full heads of wheat or barley to make profitable yields, when growing costs eat up 15 to 20 bushels per acre. Many Midwest growers make big profits on grain by using ARCADIAN 12-12-12 to turn out 40, 50 and even 60-bushel yields. Here's how it's done:

Full-feed your wheat this fall with 400 to 600 pounds of ARCADIAN 12-12-12 per acre drilled in at seeding. Free-flowing ARCADIAN 12-12-12 spreads easily, dissolves quickly in the soil, feeds your fall grain fast and full-feeds it right through to ripening a big crop. Use ARCADIAN 12-12-12 now to supply all the nitrogen, phosphorus and potash your crop needs for a strong start, good wintering over, and big yields of plump grain.

'Malachi Calls for Righteous Living'

By DR. ARCHIE E. BROWN
Malachi 3:1-18

GOLDEN TEXT: "Have we not all one father? Hath not one God created us? Why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother?" (Malachi 2:10)

INTRODUCTION: Note carefully the words of the golden text above. Surely there is something here for all of us.

We have been studying the history of Israel for several weeks. We have found it to be the story of God's dealings with His people. We have seen them captured and carried off into Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar. After seventy years we found them returning to Jerusalem to rebuild the Temple. Sin followed. This led to discouragement and heart-ache. Nehemiah was then raised up to become their God-given leader. The walls were rebuilt, and there was rejoicing.

We have found that when they were disobedient, God punished them. When they were obedient, God blessed them. So it is with us today.

Malachi is the last of the Old Testament prophets. When he comes upon the scene, the people have been disobedient. They are discouraged and downhearted. Nevertheless, Malachi delivers God's message to them. It takes courage for a man of God to make himself unpopular with his people by delivering the message God lays on his heart.

I "YE HAVE GONE AWAY" (V.7)

Is it not strange that God's people turned away from Him when He was blessing them? But wait! Is not the exact same thing happening today? What nation in the world is most blessed by God today? America, of course. Why then does she turn away from God? Why is she drunk? Why does she worship the material

Bull Dogs Beat Murphysboro, 13-6, in Grid Opener

Locals Score Two TDs In Final Half After Red Devils Take Lead

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs came from behind last night to cop their opening football game, 13 to 6, from Murphysboro at Taylor Field after the Red Devils had surprised everybody with a long touchdown pass on the second play of the game.

All three tallies of the contest came on passes of sizeable length. Murphy's was a heave and run that totaled 64 yards—Harrisburg's were for gains of 23 and 36, on passes by Tony Beal to Fred McKenzie in the third quarter and to Jack Wright in the fourth.

The locals, who showed lots of power, had their troubles all through the first half as they could not jell on offense; but in the last two quarters they did a fine job and had the Red Devils stymied. In fact, during the last half Murphy had a net loss of seven yards rushing as they gained but a single yard and lost eight.

Locals Gain 197 Yards

During the entire game the Murphy net yardage rushing was but 13 yards, which speaks highly of the work of the Harrisburg line and secondary, and their passing total of 89 yards gave them 95 yards from scrimmage.

Harrisburg, on the other hand, had a net 105 yards rushing and 92 yards passing for a total of 197 from scrimmage.

In the passing department Tony Beal threw 10 forwards, connected on five of them—two for touchdowns—and had one intercepted. Murphysboro also threw ten, connected on three and had three intercepted.

And in the number of first downs, Harrisburg had nine to a single first down for the opponents. It came in the middle of the last period on a completed forward pass. Harrisburg was penalized 25 yards. Murphysboro 20.

Half Ends 6-0
Harrisburg kicked off to Murphysboro to start the game and after a three-play gain, Red Devil William A. Williams hurled a pass to James Jamison, end, which Jamison caught back of the Harrisburg secondary and romped to a touchdown. Murphysboro didn't threaten at all after that play although Harrisburg had plenty of anxious moments in trying to catch up. The half ended 6-0.

Harrisburg started its first touchdown drive after intercepting a Murphy pass on the H-31 and going 69 yards to score. McKenzie raced 16 yards and Beal and Wright made two yards each before Beal passed 10 yards to end Jim Williams to the M-39.

A couple of line plays were good for five, after which Beal passed to McKenzie for 15 yards to the 19. Two plays lost 10 yards back to the 29 and the threat darkened for the locals, but Wright ran 6 to the 23 and Beal passed to McKenzie from that point for a score, McKenzie doing a nice job of grabbing the ball as he was bumped and getting away into the end zone.

Place Kick Extra Point

McKenzie then place-kicked the extra point and the locals led 7-6 with only a short time left in the period.

The second drive started fairly early in the final frame, after Murphy punted to the locals on the M-46. Wright made 8 and Beal 6 to move to the M-32. Beal lost 4 to the 36, then threw to Wright, who grabbed it and ran into the end zone standing up. The try for extra point was blocked.

Only gain made by Murphy after that was a 21-yard pass that moved the ball to the H-31. But a 5-yard penalty and a forward pass that lost five yards instead of gained set back the Red Devils and on the next play Wright intercepted a pass on the H-38.

Harrisburg had moved to the M-16 on another drive when the game ended.

Players in Action

Coach Lawrence Caluffetti started Jim Williams and Joe Dorris at ends, Everett Evans and Ken Price at tackles, Richard Hess and Jay Waite at guards, Ron Williams at center, Wayman Hefner at quarterback, McKenzie and Wright at halfbacks and Beal at fullback. Jim and Ron Williams, Dorris, Hess, Evans, Wright and Beal played the entire game. Others who saw action were Mike Hays at quarterback, who played the last half and some of the first on offense; John Ziegler, who did a fine job of linebacking; Jack Foster, halfback; Dickie Drue, tackle; Lyndell Stacy, guard; and Bill Henshaw, end, who did the kickoff chores.

Coach Jim Furgerson of Murphysboro started James Jamison and Johnson at ends, making an M for Murphysboro and playing "Thumbs Up, U.S.A." forming a heart and playing "Heart," forming a chain and playing "Unchained Love," and forming an H for Harrisburg and playing "Illinois Loyalty."

Officiating was good. Officials were Ernie Driggers of Mt. Vernon, referee; Bob Blondi of Benton, head linesman; Claude Rhodes of Benton, umpire; and C. L. Harris of Carlyle, field judge.

Next Friday night the locals travel to Marion for the opening South Seven contest.

Dodgers' Podres May Miss Series Because of Injury

BROOKLYN — Southpaw Johnny Podres of the Dodgers, who was a candidate for a starting pitching assignment in the World Series, may not appear in the classic at all because of a chest injury.

The Dodgers learned Friday night that the 22-year-old Podres is suffering from a torn cartilage on the right side of his chest, and club physician Dr. Eugene Zorn, who examined him, said it was doubtful whether he would be able to pitch in the World Series.

If Podres is unavailable for the series, Dodger vice-president Buzz Bavasi will ask commissioner Ford Frick for permission to bring up lefthander Ken Lehman from Montreal of the International League where he compiled a 22-9 record this season.

Podres suffered the injury to his chest when he ran into batting cage field while chasing fungoes during pre-game practice before the Dodgers left on their last road trip two weeks ago.

Eldorado Shows Smooth Offense in 26-6 Opening Victory Over Anna

Eagles Roll to 14 First Downs To Six for Anna

Eldorado, with a brilliant attack and stout defense, walloped a highly-regarded Anna - Jonesboro football team Friday night 26-6. It was the opening game of the year for both teams and was played on the winners' gridiron.

The game was generally regarded as a tossup, with Anna having whatever edge there might be, in pre-game predictions, but Eldorado quickly took charge of the game and was in command at practically all stages of play.

The cold statistics tell the story. Eldorado rolled for 14 first and 10's to six for Anna; Eldorado had a net gain of 278 yards on the ground and 36 by passing; Anna had a net gain on the ground of 73 yards and gained 22 yards by passing. Two of Anna's passes were intercepted.

Score in Seven Minutes

Eldorado's first TD was scored after seven minutes of the opening frame had been played.

Anna kicked to start the game and Eldorado's Potts brought the ball back to the 29 yard line. Acie Gwaltney was injured on the play and taken from the game, replaced by Don Gwaltney, no relation.

Quarterback Clark alternated Lovellette and Potts on ball-carrying duty and they picked up three first downs. Then a 29-yard pass, Clark to Stroke, put the ball on the 13 yard line. Potts hit the line for 5, Lovellette gained three and on the next play Lovellette crashed over his left tackle for 5 yards and a TD. Lovellette made the extra point on a smash through center.

Seven minutes had been played and Eldorado had kept possession of the ball the entire time.

Following the kickoff by Eldorado, Anna's Eaves brought the ball to the 40. Sneddon, a hard-driving back all night, picked up 5, then a running play was stopped and on the following play Anna passed, but Eldorado's Mosby intercepted near midfield.

Acie Gwaltney was back in Eldorado's backfield and he and Lovellette did most of the carrying on the next series of plays. The quarter ended with Eldorado 20 yards from pay dirt, second down and five to go.

As the second frame started Lovellette made five in two tries, Potts went for six, then Gwaltney raced around his right end for a TD. Point try failed.

Anna scored its only touchdown with the second quarter nearly over.

Taking the kickoff, Anna's best offensive play of the night was displayed as Eaves, then Sneddon and Eaves again went for 33 yards in three attempts. Then the running attack bogged and Meyer got off a fine punt that rolled dead on the five.

Lovellette fumbled on the first play, Anna recovering on the seven. In three plays Sneddon went over for a six-pointer.

Play McLeansboro Friday. Eldorado scored in the third quarter on a pass from Clark to Stroke covering 16 yards. The drive had started way back on the 13 and was featured by a 60-yard run by Lovellette.

In the fourth quarter Potts raced 24 yards for a TD, the scoring play being set up on a 26 yard dash by Gwaltney. Gwaltney scooted around end for the extra point.

Winning Streaks of Two Prep Teams Broken; Flora Trounces Centralia, 21-12

By United Press

Chenoa and Macomb, two of a baker's dozen Illinois prep football teams unbeaten last year, were tumbled to defeat in their first tries Friday night.

Rock Island was another upset as the high school gridiron season opened, but elsewhere favorites won, among them East St. Louis, Aurora East, Harrisburg, Peoria Central and Evanston.

Chenoa had the state's second longest winning streak, 22 triumphs since losing to Forrest in 1952. But new Coach Don Daluga was right when he picked Octavia as one of his toughest foes this year. Octavia whipped Chenoa 14-7.

Quincy Notre Dame halted Macomb's 11-game winning streak 22-12. Macomb was beaten last by Havana on Oct. 17, 1953.

East St. Louis, unbeaten since Nov. 22, 1951, ran the state's longest victory string to 33 with a 27-0 win over host Springfield High. Springfield, with the aid of Flyer fumbles and mistakes, held the big East team scoreless in the second and third quarters.

Aurora East Wins

Big Eight champ Aurora East earned its favorite's role for a repeat crown with a 28-0 non-conference victory over East Moline. Peoria Central, unbeaten, once tied Big 12 champ last year, 7-6. Roxana rang up No. 17 in a row by outlasting Jerseyville 27-25. Chillicothe won lucky 13 in a row 27-0 from Princeton. Pekin won the third Starch Bowl game 7-0 over Argo at Pekin.

Rockford West edged the Clinton, Iowa, River Kings 7-6. De Kalb's Barbs looked strong in a 35-20 effort against Aurora West.

Eldorado Merchants To Play Uniontown At Raleigh Sunday

The Eldorado Merchants will be host Sunday to the strong Uniontown, Ky., Cardinals in a baseball game to be played on the Raleigh diamond.

Uniontown features the pitching of "Big" Jim Bumpus, a former professional hurler with the Kansas City Monarchs. He is well known in this area, having pitched in these parts many times. His receiver is another old-timer, George Harris, who has two sons playing on the team.

Sandusky or Woolard will be Eldorado's pitcher.

In a game earlier this season, these two teams battled for 11 innings to a 1-1 tie.

Game time is 2:30 and Eldorado players are asked to report for pre-game practice by 1 p. m.

Galatia to Open Cross Country Schedule Next Friday

Galatia high school will open its cross country schedule next Friday, Sept. 23, hosting Thompsonville, Galatia Coach Glenn Dunn has announced.

At present Galatia has only one other meet listed, but Dunn hopes to schedule others before the district meet, which will be held in October.

Christopher's cross country runners will visit Galatia Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Coach Dunn thinks the Galatia runners will make a good showing this season and is especially hopeful for Ken Crookrum, a sophomore, who has covered the two mile distance in good times for this early in the season. Crookrum was unbeaten in dual cross country competition as a freshman.
